

NICK – Chief Executive

Nick has been chief executive since July 2006.

Previously he helped set up the Young Foundation and was Head of Sustainable Funding at the National Council of Voluntary Organisations (NCVO). Other roles have included running a large charity trading subsidiary, working on a community enterprise in Hackney and on secondment to the Treasury during the 2002 spending review. Nick has also served on the boards of Futurebuilders and the UK Social Enterprise Coalition.

Outside of London Youth, Nick serves on the Management Committee of the Round Chapel Neighbourhood project in Hackney and the Community and Education Committee of the multi award-winning Spitalfields Music Festival.

Born in Manchester and brought up in the Peak District, Nick follows football (Macclesfield Town), likes going to the theatre, walking in the mountains and plays cricket badly.